Amdt. Dated June 15 2004

Response to Notice of Omitted Items of April 15, 2004

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

In the specification as filed, the Brief Description of the Drawings refers to Figs 1A – 1F which were erroneously omitted in the drawings.

We respectfully submit that by submitting these figures we are not by any means introducing any new subject matter into the specification because the Description of Preferred and Other Embodiments on pages 13 and 14 of the specification provides a detailed and accurate description of Figures 1A – 1F which is sufficient for a person skilled in the art to read this description and arrive at the drawings (by drawing the figures themselves) shown in Figs 1A – 1F without having seen the Figures. Consequently, the detailed description of Figs 1A – 1F is already clearly disclosed in the specification although the figures were erroneously omitted at the time of filing and therefore no new material is being introduced as a result of submitting these figures now.

We respectfully submit that this amendment does not introduce new matter into the specification.

Very respectfully,

Applicant:
